In 1915, the Rev.Walker Miller Gage writing from St.Andrew's Rectory,17 North Main Avenue, in the City of Albany, N.Y., sent out a printed letter concerning the assembling of GAGE Family records.

GAGE FAMILY--(Gage-Gaige-Gauge-Gadge-Gach)
Five branches of the Gage family appear in the early records of this country. The effort to construct a family history dealt with all of the branches.

A brief account of the five then known branches was set forth and all its members were encouraged to lend their assistance into bringing into being the various lines down to the present generation and to have the families connected historically.

At the close of his letter, the Rev.Mr.Gage stated:"If it is not possible to have my copius notes published, I will place them in the New York State Library at Albany, and in other places a typewritten copy of ALL I HAVE GATHERED. Then there will be a permanent and accurate record for others to read. My manuscript will not be buried in some dusty chest and forgotten but will be obtainable and usable. It is important,that this work be done now as the period from 1776 until 1800 (when the country was again restored to some kind of peace and when migrations ceased) is difficult to search.Now there are those who can go back in memory, filling the gap."

In 1943,culminating nearly thirty years of stupenduous effort, the Rev.Mr, Gage, a dedicated man, brought into being a most comprehensive and informative record of all Gage-Gaige families in America.

This compilation is a duplicate of a typewritten original and is bound in a hard cover. It is in the possession of the New York Public Library,Fifth Ave. and 42nd Street,New York, N.Y.
It's title--

> "Notes on various branches of the Gage-Gaige Families, also biographical sketches" 8th edition 1943 by the Rev.Walker Miller Gage. Library Class Mark APV plus sign GAGE.

The location of the typewritten original is not known.It is presumed that it was filed with the New York State Library at Albany, N.Y., in accordance with the statement made by the Rev.Mr.Gage at the close of his letter which he released in 1915.In fact, the book's title is mentioned in their index and is shown as an over-size book.However,it was not to be found on their shelves in the last few times,I visited the library, this leaving the only other copy, the whereabouts of which is known,in the possession of the New York Public Library.

The Rev. Mr. Gage died at his home in Red Bluff, Calif. in 1950 In the manuscript section of the New York State Library at Albany, N.Y. will be found a manuscript collection of records compiled by the Rev. Mr. Gage entitled "Gage, Smith and Allied Families" The library's file HZ 12390--seven boxes of unpublished genealogical records and notes. Most of the information deals with families whose members married into the Gage Family and there is much information on their genealogical background. There is, however, very little additional information on the GAGE FAMILY proper to that which appeares in the book in the possession of the New York Public Library.

In addition to the above, there is on file in the New York State Library at Albany, N.Y., various charts prepared by Dr. Howard Parker Moore, formerly of 414 East 52nd Street, New York, N.Y. which apply in particular to the Thomas Gage of Yarmouth, Mass. family. Dr. Moore was the father of Charlotte Moore Lewis, the wife of Dr. Thomas Asa Gage (1918) shown in this book page 63 and as number B2600.

There are similar charts and two "MEMORIALS", one a condensation of the other, also prepared by Dr. Moore, on file in the library of the Columbia County, N.Y. Historical Association at Valatie, New York.

As one greatly interested in the Gage record as a whole and working from photostatic copies of the pages carrying the genealogical detail, set forth in the 8th edition of Mr. Gage's book, which I obtained from the New York Public Library, several years ago and from copies of Dr. Moore's charts and memorials, I have undertaken the task of further developing the open genealogical lines of the Thomas Gage of Yarmouth, Mass. family as recorded by the Rev Mr. Gage and by Doctor Moore.

I wish to pay my respects to the Rev. Mr. Gage and to Dr. Moore, and to that end, I offer this book on the Thomas Gage of Yarmouth, Mass. family as a continuation of that which they began and t the Rev. Mr. Gage has so ably presented in his 8th edition. It is my pleasure to dedicate this offering to them. May it help to carry out their oft expressed wishes and desires by providing a greater distribution of Gage Family information among the libraries of this country and among the families individual members.

The genealogical listings in this book, unless otherwise explained, start with the parents. Under that heading is a listing of children. The father is given a number and that number is known as a family number. Should there be no known children, the name of the husband and wife only will appear.

THOMAS GAGE OF YARMOUTH-HARWICH, MASS.

He was probably born around 1620 to 1630. Of English origin, when he came to America is not discoverable. After 1640 large scale immigrations from England dried up. After 15 years, Charles I, during a turbulent reign, lost control when the "Long Parliament" (1640:1660) began. Fewer people had to flee the country. During this period, nevertheless, settlers arrived in New England from the old country in small numbers. Perhaps, Thomas came as a youth. Hotten's lists do not disclose his name or any clue.

From the year 1650, when Thomas first appeared in the records until his death in 1695, a period of 35 years, he was always poor in this world's goods. He failed to get ahead and few of his descendants have done much better. Whether he lacked intelligent initiative, was set back by indolence or bad habits, or was simply overwhelmed by disaster on the sea, as so many were, cannot be learned. His calling, the sea or in occupations connected with it was hazardous. After gains were established by the hardest of toil, bad luck, such as the loss of a vessel, however small, would wipe out the rewards of decades of effort. An evil hour of storm and stress would defeat the manliest of endeavors.

There is nothing in the record to impugn the character of Thomas Gage. The character of his children, granchildren and later progeny is made up by sterling traits. When, during successive migrations, the nature of the soil was good, the Gages did well when the ventures were ill chosen, they were unsuccessful. Many, many families in New England made the mistake of continuing to reside where Nature permitted few successes. They were disinclined to risk costly removals. Few seemed to have had the hardihood to pull up stakes, sacrifice their little gains, and try it elsewhere. Fewer still appear to have had the discernment that thin soil would not support many generations. The record of the Gage Family was, perhaps, no better and no worse than many others.

HIS MARRIAGE TO HANNAH KNIGHT

There seems to be no record of the marriage of young Gage to Hannah Knight, the daughter of William Knight, from Berkshire County, England. Knight appeared in 1637 in Salem, Mass., and bought land in Lynn 1638. That the marriage was as early as 1648 is plain enough. The first bit of real knowledge we have is in Plymouth County vital records of 1650,

The young couple left Lynn before her father died. Thomas Gage was a mariner, a calling flexible in point of residence. He had for some five years been living with his young family in the town of Yarmouth, on Cape Cod, a long way from Lynn and having no ascertainable connection with it. But, following the sea was like that. Itwas not uncommon for men in that line in all the settlements to be somewhat careless of the rigid regulations of the church. In 1655, he ran afoul of one of them and was arrested for "prophaning the Lord's Day" in putting to sea from Sandwich, (a nearby port) in his boat. There may have been a fine, possibly an admonition.The point is that discipline had to be maintained. This would be especially important to newcomers. Thomas Gage was not then a citizen.Two years later (in 1657) he took the oath of fidelity(the final step) But in the very next year he was one of the town officials."Surveyor of Highways". He served in the same capacity in 1666,1667 and in 1678.

THE HOME OF THE YOUNG GAGE FAMILY

The house must have been a primitive structure.It was on"Gage's Way" near "Boardman's Island (sometimes Boreman's) not far from where the present main highway runs east and west through West Harwich village,that part of Yarmouth having become a part of the Town of Harwich. There was bend in the little river, (Herring River) and the "Way" (now called Smith' Lane) ran from Gage's housing and wharf as a means of communication with the "island". The narrow"river" was atidal stream,its short course of aboutthree miles. A somewhat intestinal contortion at one point almost caused an island; and it was so called,when in 1690 Gage sold it to Major John Freeman, one of the most prominet citizens, The marshy area was termed "Swan Point Neck" about that time.

In 1678 the "island" had been granted to Thomas Gage,Thomas Boardman and William Griffith" their heirs forever as joint and equal proprietors" in this language. "That meadow in Herring River in a neck almost compassed about by the river on east and north and by cedar swamps on the west.A narrow entrance into which neck at the south; and in this neck two or three knolls of upland which are compassed round by the aforesaid meadows, which knolls or uplands,we have given and granted, etc."

The value of the marsh land was for hay,but the knolls,rising 5 or 10 feet above the salt water level would be available for cultivated crops. The area is practically worthless to-day and has been for most of the 300 year history of white men. The sluggish river, but slightly changed by freshets from above or tidalaction from the nearby sea,shows on the U.S.Geological survey of 1940 much as those early seekers of fortune found it.

There was,however, an important source of sustenance and profit in the coming of vast quantities of alewives and other fish in the spring, to spawn in the ponds of the upper river. Town regulations provided that any sluices kept by the inhabitants must be left open at those periods to facilitate the movement of the fish. The settlers depended in no small measure on fish, fresh and cured for food and for fertilizer.

None of the primitive families ever got rich and the poor salt marsh country looks much the same as when they arrived in search of easier conditions than farming among the rocky pastures and house lots of other sections. Populous sea-side resorts and neat villages now surround the spot where Thomas Gage sought to raise a family and leave them better off.

CHILDREN OF THOMAS GAGE AND HANNAH KNIGHT

His will named male issue(but there were probably some daughters) in this order: Benjamin, Thomas, Adam, John, William, Henry and Moses. The names imply that the influence of the Gage antecedent was strong. If English records are ever looked into, these names might be found as progenitors of the Gage line.

KING PHILIPS WAR

A terrible fight with the Indians took place near Seekonk om March 26th 1676.Captain Michael Pierce was slain and with him nearly every one of his 55 men. Among them were no less than three sons of Thomas Gage.A letter written by a clergyman after theevent, gave the names of the five soldiers from Yarmouth who were lost on that day,three of them being in one family, John,William and Henry Gage. Thomas Gage had, in addition to his grievous loss, to pay a heavy assessment to support the maintainence of the soldiers to fight the aroused and predatory savages. The list of April 29th shows his share as 2 Pounds, 6 Shillings and 9 Pence. The sons were hardly out of their teens.Later,two other sons went (Adam in 1691--went out as a soldier in their majesty's service and was slain) This in his father's lifetime. Thomas,in 1707 after his father's death. (Thomas was killed at Port Royal,Annapolis , Nova Scotia by a cannon ball passing though his tent) Only Benjamin,the oldest and Moses,the youngest child died in their beds,

THE END OF HIS LIFE

In the 19 remaining years of his life,Thomas Gage felt his losses. The declension of his hopes and plans continued but what the family did is not shown even in the short and simple"annals of the poor".

Time was running out with the emigrant ancestor of the family now possibly in his 70's and perhaps feeble and useless. On June 30, 1695, feeling his end was approaching,he called in his neighbors,John Chase and Isaac Chase to witness the execution of his will.He was illiterate or at least to ill to sign his name. The instrument was short,as was, perhaps his time,--

"To my son Benjamin all my estate be it in whatsoever and where-soever" it is,only to my wife, I give one shilling and to my son Thomas 5 shillings and to all my other children each a shilling.

#8438 Lyman Judson Gage
From Album of Genealogy and Biography, Cook County, Ill.
1899 pages 271-272.

Lyman Judson Gage, President of the First National Bank of Chicago, is widely known as the leading financier of the West, as well as an active power in political and other movements. As a promoter and active Director of the World's Columbian Exposition, he earned and received the good-will of every citizen of Chicago, as well as most of the world beside.

Eli A. Gage and Mary Judson, parents of the subject of this biography, were natives of New York, of English descent, their ancestors being numbered among the early settlers of NewEngland. The student of American History cannot fail to note that much of the energy and good sense which gave direction to the developement of the entire northern half of the United States was contributed by the New England Blood.

Lyman J. Gage was born at DeRuyter, Madison County, N.Y. June 28 1836, and passed the first ten years of his life in that village On the removal of the family to Rome, N.Y. in 1846, he entered the local academy, but left school to engage in business life at the age of fourteen. For a year, he was employed clerk in the Rome post-office, and was detailed by the post-master as mail route agent on the Rome and Watertown Railroad at the age of fifteen. In 1854 he became junior clerk in the Oneida Central Bank at Rome, at a salary of $100.00 per annum. His duties in that position were somewhat varied, and involved the sweeping of the bank, as well as many other duties which are fulfilled by a janitor in larger institutions. The ambitious soul of the youth who was destined by fate to control in time great financial enterprises, could not always be content in this position, and after a year and a half of service, with no immediate prospect of advancement in position or salary, he resolved to try his fortune in the growing West.

On the 3rd of October 1855, young Gage, being then a little past the completion of his nineteenth year, arrived in Chicago with a capital consisting of brains and energy. He shortly found employment in the lumber-yard of Nathan Cobb, a part of the time in keeping books, and often in loading lumber. He continued in this employment until the business changed hands in 1858. The financial depression of that period made many changes and, rather than remain idle, Mr. Gage accepted the position of night-watchman at the same place. At the end of six weeks in this service, in August, 1858, he was offered and accepted the position of book-keeper in the Merchants Savings, Loan & Trust Company at an annual salary of $500.00 Here he found field for the exercise of his abilities, and his advancement was rapid. On the 1st of January following, he was promoted to the position of paying teller with the accompanying salary of $1,200 per year. In September, 1860, he became Assistant Cashier at $2,000 per annum, and a year later was made cashier. In August, 1868, he resigned this position to accept a similar one in the First National Bank. On the re-organization of this institution, at the expiration of its charter in 1882, Mr. Gage was elected Vice-President and General Manager, and became President January 24 1891. Thus are briefly related the steps of his progress, but they were not the result of accident. Back of them were the qualities which inspired the confidence of his fellows, and the ability to make intelligent use of his opportunities.

Mr. Gage was one of the organizers of the American Banker's Association at Philadelphia, in October 1876, and was made President of that body in 1882, and twice successfully re-elected, a compliment to Chicago and the man. He is a member of two social clubs, of the city, the Chicago and the Union, an ex President of the Commercial Club (an organization limited to 60 members), and a Director and Treasurer of the Art Institute. Mr Gage takes a warm interest in all matters affecting the public welfare, and has been quite active as a member of the Republican organization because he considers the Republican Party, the best exponent of his ideas on the conservation of human liberty and general prosperity. While somewhat active in promulgating his principles, he is by no means a narrow partisan and will not tolerate any thing which his judgment or conscience does not approve., because it bears the endorsement of his party. He has been frequently urged to accept a nomination for some public position as the spontaneous choice of the public urged, but his business interests could not be set aside sufficiently to permit. At the last regular municipal election he could have been almost unanimously elected mayor had he permitted the use of his name, In spite of the cares of his responsible position, he gave much of his energy to the promotion of the World's Fair enterprise, and was made President of the Board of Directors at its organization in April 1890. This he resigned on his accession to the bank presidency, nearly a year later, but continued as an active member of the board. It is no injustice to his contemporaries to say that the final success of the scheme was in a large measure due to the influence and efforts of Mr. Gage. When the hostility of New York seemed likely to take the location away from Chicago Mr Gage was one of four capitalists to guarantee the completion of the ten-million-dollar guaranty fund required by Congress from Chicago. It was while on his way to attend a banquet in New York that Mr Gage was stricken with a serious illness, which it requires a dangerous operation to overcome, and the whole nation rejoiced when it was announced that he would recover.

Later after this article was written, Mr. Gage was a member of the cabinet of President William McKinley in the capacity of Secretary of the Treasury.

Except in a very few instances, such as having died young, or never having married, Gage sons named herein are given a specific number. This their INDIVIDUAL number when listed under their parent's name and their FAMILY number when they marry and either have or have no children.

Two series of numbers are shown. Those with no letter and those bearing the preceding letter B. The unlettered numbers have been brought forward from the book entitled: "Notes on various branches of the Gage-Gaige Families, also biographical sketches" 8th edition 1943 by the Rev. Walker Miller Gage, New York Public Library, Fifth Ave and 42nd Street, New York City, Glass Mark A.P.V. plus sign GAGE.

The numbers preceded by the letter B have been assigned to those Gage sons have been located and established as members of the Thomas Gage of Yarmouth, Mass. family since the Rev. Mr. Gage prepared and filed his massive work on the Gage Families in America.

In a compilation of this character, where so many different individuals are listed and to make this an easily understandable record, we have copied an indexing feature from the Rev. Mr. Gage's individual work. We list by the Christian name at the head of a column. Underneath that heading, we list the individual's number. This is followed by the complete date of birth or by the year of birth whichever or whatever is known. Then if a middle name of a middle initial is known, that information will follow.

This has been prepared in the same manner as has that of the Gage Sons.

The only exceptions are that where they have a B number assigned to them, they are not listed under that number unless they have married into the Gage family and have children bearing the Gage name, in which case, the Gage daughters B number becomes the family number. There are a few instances where Gage daughters have married into other families and in this case, the Gage daughter's B number becomes that particular family's number., otherwise the number assigned to the Gage daughters in this index is the family number to which the daughter belongs.
